

ABSTRACT

An all terrain vehicle is disclosed that includes a frame, a plurality of wheels that are suspended from the frame, and a support that is fixedly attached to the frame. A fender is fixedly attached to the support and a storage rack disposed above the frame and supported by at least one of the support and the fender. The storage rack includes at least two separate sections.